The Tar Heel C's debuted their skills against the Wildcats in this season's opening game. The Heels rushed for 100 yards on the day setting the pace for what looks to be an amazing season! Spearheading the Tar Heel attack was Spencer Moya with a huge 38 yard run around the left side of the field and into the endzone. Jessie Chavez came out ready to play with an awesome 25 yard run. Damian Pena looked great after only one day of practice with a nice 23 yard run. Also new to the team was Collin Bergman-Gray who ricocheted off the Wildcats for a career high 17 yard run.

Michael Arriaga soared past the Kentucky line picking up over 11 yards on the day and a touchdown, followed by Jose Derazo who somehow found daylight around the right side of the field, scoring the extra point. Devin Ferguson carried the ball for 8 yards, along with Jared Rosa and Julian Hernandez each picking up a couple.

The Tar Heel blocking brigade was instrumental in the assault. Abraham Almodovar, Justin Cruz, Moses Lujan Derek Gonzalez, and Noah Sandoval pushed back a strong Kentucky defensive attack giving our runners time to penetrate the lines. Although the Wildcats were able to pierce through the line, these young trench warriors continued to do battle with the boys from Kentucky.

The Wildcats continued to hammer into the Tar Heel defense, creating some huge holes. Damian Pena and Jose Derazo tried to plug those holes, leading the squad with 3 tackles a piece. Jessie Chavez held his ground at linebacker with a couple tackles on the day along with Julian Hernandez, who downed a couple Wildcats himself. Aydan Cisneros, Vincent Sanchez, Elijah Sierra and Andre Walker each played their part on the defensive campaign fighting hard to bring down those Wildcats. Unfortunately, Kentucky would beat North Carolina in this season's opener, but the season is long from over! With a little practice and hard work, this young Tar Heel team will be ready to beat the Wildcats in their next encounter. The Heels look to play the mighty Falcons in next weekend's grudge match. Let's show them what we got boys!

Note:

Starting next week we will be splitting the C team. Please find your name in the list above. We will be merging our 2nd grade and 1st grade programs to form a C/B division. This will give more boys the opportunity to run the ball in the games and make for a much funner situation for all!
