VOLUME 72, NUMBER 24 • MARCH 25, 2013

COLUMN ONE

Please do not park in the streets around Kare Youth League. We need to be considerate of our neighbors who have shown so much support for us over the years. Thank you in advance.

Celebrate Easter

The High School Students of Rio Hondo Prep are presenting a special Easter Service at 9:00 a.m. on Sunday, March 31st. If you don't have a home church for Easter or you just want to come and support some of your child's assistant coaches, feel free to attend this special service.

Parent Code of Ethics

With a new season upon us we thought it might be a good idea to republish the Kare Youth League Parent Code of Ethics. For most this will be a review, while parents of new members might be seeing the code for the first time. The complete code can be found in the Kare Youth League Family Handbook.

- 1) I will encourage good sportsmanship by demonstrating positive support for all players, coaches, and officials at every game
- 2) I will place the emotional and physical well-being of my child ahead of my personal desire to win.
- 3) I will refrain from the use of tobacco, alcohol, and profanity at all of my child's activities.
- 4) I will support coaches and officials working with my child in order to encourage a positive and enjoyable experience for all.
- 5) I will remain in the bleachers or designated areas for parents during games and defer the coaching to the Kare Youth League staff.

The Good-For-Nothing: Part 2

From the Paul Harvey Radio Program

Guiseppe went out and odd-jobbed wherever he could. Errand boy, newspaper boy, sometimes he even pulled down a dollar a day. It wasn't pocket money; it was table money. Every cent Guiseppe earned, he turned over to the household for food and clothing. You'd think Papa would be proud of his son, but to Papa young Guiseppe was just being lazy. Odd jobs were lazy jobs, according to him. Real work was helping Papa on the fishing boat.

This weighed pretty heavily on the lad. He started hiding under the bed when Papa came looking for him. Or he ran off to play sports with his friends when he knew Papa was about to call him to the fishing boat. Tennis was especially interesting to him. He knew that tennis champs Maurice McLaughlin and Bill Johnston came from San Francisco, and he wanted to be like them. But the tennis passion didn't last long, and for the first time Guiseppe began to believe his Dad. Perhaps he was a lazy good-for-nothing.

That's the way Guiseppe saw it back then. Everything just seemed sort of gloomy and hopeless. But as it turned out, Guiseppe one day became the most successful member of his family!

Oh, he didn't go back to fishing. Despite his ancestry, Guiseppe just wasn't cut out to be a fisherman, or a tennis player, for that matter. When Guiseppe finally found something that interested him sufficiently to stay with it, his passion for it was so great that two of his brothers quit fishing and joined him!

You've heard of Guiseppe by his American first name and most folks at that great big Fisherman's Wharf won't forget the fisherman they lost. Neither will they forget the boy who forgot about tennis only to enter the world of sports and turn it upside down.

For if that young man hadn't been too seasick to join the family business, he would have left a vacancy in baseball's Hall of fame too great to fill. His American name? Guiseppe...Joe...Dimaggio.
