You Can Pay Me Now...Or Pay Me Later

Does anyone remember that famous Fram oil filter commercial where they were trying to get people to change their oil filter for a small cost now rather than have to repair the whole engine for a lot more later? Well, keep that in mind when thinking about the Fall 3-2-1 Sports Drawing ticket deadline coming up on Friday, October 16. It is a lot less painful to sell the tickets now than to have to purchase them later with your own money. Start with relatives and close friends (don't worry, it won't cost you too many friendships), and then move on to neighbors and co-workers (maybe avoid that neighbor you had the disagreement with last week). Finally, try selling at a store for an hour or two. A little bit of effort can go a long way. Good luck!

It's as Easy as 1-2-3

League-wide standings can now be found at the click of a button at kyl.org. Just follow three simple instructions:

- 1) Go to kyl.org
- 2) Move the cursor to "Links"
- 3) Scroll down to "Team Standings"

And before you can say, "Jack Robinson" you will know the standings in your child's division. There are a lot of other new and exciting things going on at our website. Keep checking back for updates.

Kindergarten and Pre-K boys in Covina and Arcadia showed up for their first day of fall soccer last Saturday. Upland boys start this Saturday. When all is said and done, about 90 boys will be taking part.

A Race Isn't Over Until It's Over: Part 3

By Louie Zamperini

(WWII POW and subject of the Movie "Unbroken")

I was severely limited until the last 120 yards, when it looked like Fenske, the leader, was far enough ahead. The other runners loosened up. I took advantage and squeezed through and, ignoring my pain, turned it on. I passed Fenske and made for the finish line. I won by five yards.

Coach Cromwell rushed over. "How fast do you think you ran?" he asked. "If I'm lucky I broke 4:20," I said. After all the pushing, shoving, elbowing, and spiking, I thought there was no way I'd run a good race. In fact, when it was clear that I would win, I had slowed down just a bit before the end because I was so disappointed. "Then you're lucky," he said with a grin. "You just broke the national collegiate record. You ran 4:08.03." I couldn't believe it. The record had been Bonthron's 4:08.9. Mine stood for the next 15 years.

The next day, a picture of me in the papers showed the extent of how I'd been butchered. I was wrapped in tape and looked like I'd gotten into a hockey brawl. This made victory all the more sweet. I'd won for myself and, as I'd once vowed, for Glenn Cunningham. Coincidentally, years later when I met my wife-to-be, Cynthia, she remembered seeing that picture as a child.

I didn't know it then, but my persistence, perseverance, and unwillingness to accept defeat when things looked all but hopeless were part of the very character traits I would need to make it through World War II alive. Of course, you don't have to live through a war to have those qualities work for you every day. Sometimes a day in the office or raising the kids is just as challenging.

I'd made it this far and refused to give up because all my life I had always finished the race.
