COLUMN ONE

The first light poles are up at Kare Park in Irwindale. Opening day is set for Saturday, August 26, 2017. Special tours are being offered during October. We hope to see you there!

A Three Hour Tour...A Three Hour Tour...

Gilligan's Island was a TV show in the 60's and is rather famous for its theme song and the "Three Hour Tour" that ended up taking about fifteen years instead. For those who want to go on a shorter expedition (less than an hour), the staff from Kare is offering multiple tours of Kare Park over the next few weeks. You'll get an in-depth look at all of the exciting things going on at the new Kare Youth League in Irwindale. RSVPs are appreciated but walk-ons are also welcome. To RSVP call 626-222-3141 or email Dave Carson at davecarson.kyl@gmail.com. Hopefully, the weather doesn't start getting rough (that's a reference back to the theme song if you didn't catch it). Here is a list of up-coming tours:

- Friday, September 30 at 4:00 p.m.
- Saturday, October 1 at 10:00 a.m.
- Saturday, October 8 at 1:00 p.m.
- Wednesday, October 12 at 8:00 a.m.

Failure is an Option by Aviva Patz (excerpt from Parent Magazine) Part One

Whenever Helena Bogosian takes her daughters, Margot, 5, and Nina, 4, out to eat, she asks if they can have the same toy in their kids' meal so neither feels slighted. But one time the girls got different things because the restaurant had run out of the plastic grasshoppers they both wanted. Margot started crying hysterically, so mom drove to four more franchises in fruitless pursuit of matching toys. By the time she gave up, it was dark, the kids were fast asleep in their car seats, and she felt foolish. "I learned that avoiding a child's disappointment can be harder than helping her deal with it," she says.

Many parents today seem willing to go to ever-greater lengths to protect their kids from the pain of dashed expectations. Consider how many preschools have a policy against inviting only select classmates to a birthday celebration; everyone must be included. At the party, you have to avoid playing musical chairs because someone ends up without a seat, feeling excluded. Lots of sports leagues for younger kids don't even bother to keep score anymore -- to prevent one team from feeling like losers; all because we don't want our children to feel bad about themselves.

The irony is that disappointments are actually beneficial for kids. Learning to deal with setbacks helps them develop key characteristics they'll need to succeed, such as coping skills, emotional resilience, creative thinking, and the ability to collaborate. "Parents see failure as a source of pain for their child instead of an opportunity for him to say, 'I can deal with this. I'm strong,'" says Madeline Levine, Ph.D., author of The Price of Privilege: How Parental Pressure and Material Advantage Are Creating a Generation of Disconnected and Unhappy Kids.

If you're shaking your head and clinging to the idea that it's your job to make your child feel like a million bucks, you might be interested in what the research shows. (To be continued next week...)
