Breakfast with Santa

Get Your Emoji On

Christmas is full of wonderful traditions that connect old and young alike but...you know Santa likes to keep up to date...so this year at Breakfast with Santa there is an Emoji basket drawing that you won't want to miss (tickets for the drawing are $2.00 for one or $5 for 3). On Saturday, December 10 from 8:00 a.m.-11:00 a.m. (food service ends at 10:45 a.m.) at Kare Youth League in Arcadia, the Stivers Center will be fully decorated with candy canes and reindeer, and loaded with food and activities for Breakfast with Santa. The full pancake breakfast cost is $7.00 and includes lots of activities in Santa's Playland. Of course, Santa will be there, too (he never wants to miss a good meal), you just need to bring your own camera, and picture time will be available.

Giving Tuesday, November 29

We hope you remember "Giving Tuesday" on November 29. It's a day when folks all over the country will be giving to their favorite charities and also doing an act of kindness for someone else. Please plan to join Kare Youth League on Tuesday, November 29, as we take part in this nationwide event.

Send a gift of any size to Kare Youth League by texting "TEAMMATE" to 41444 and follow the prompts then let people know that you gave and more importantly, what you did for someone else, on social media (#KareShare). Let's make Giving Tuesday a day to remember.

February Isn't Just for Abe and George

We all know that President's Day falls in February but it is also "Winter Camp Month" for boys 3rd grade and above and girls 2nd grade and above at Kare Youth League. You might want to keep that in mind when asking Santa for that "special gift" this Christmas.

Who Were the Pilgrims? Part 2

Taken from Plymouth Plantation Website

The Pilgrims in the Netherlands

Although they had religious freedom, life in the Netherlands was not easy. The Separatists had to leave their homeland and friends to live in a foreign country without a clear idea of how they would support themselves. The congregation stayed briefly in Amsterdam and then moved to the city of Leiden. There they remained for the next 11 or 12 years. Most found work in the cloth trades, while others were carpenters, tailors and printers. Their lives required hard work. Even young children had to work. Some older children were tempted by the Dutch culture and left their families to become soldiers and sailors. Their parents feared that they would lose their identity as English people. To make matters worse, the congregation worried that another war might break out between the Dutch and Spanish. They decided to move again.

The Move to America

After careful thought, the congregation decided to leave Holland to establish a farming village in the northern part of the Virginia Colony. At that time, Virginia extended from Jamestown in the south to the mouth of the Hudson River in the north, so the Pilgrims planned to settle near present-day New York City. There they hoped to live under the English government, but they would worship in their own, separate church. Because their own money wasn't enough to establish their village, they entered into an agreement with financial investors. The company of investors would provide passage for the colonists and supply them with tools, clothing and other supplies. The colonists in turn would work for the company, sending natural resources such as fish, timber and furs back to England. All assets, including the land and the Pilgrims' houses, would belong to the company until the end of seven years when all of it would be divided among each of the investors and colonists.
