Forget About Black Friday and Cyber Monday

Thanksgiving Thursday is an amazing day to spend with family, remembering all the things to be thankful for this past year. The day after Thanksgiving, known as Black Friday has become a day to search for bargains at stores like Walmart and Target. The Monday after is known as Cyber Monday because you are supposed to be able to find good deals on the internet (you need to know where to look to find them, though).

We hope you remember the day after that, "Giving Tuesday", when folks all over the country, and the world, will be giving to their favorite charities. Please plan to join Kare Youth League on Tuesday, November 28, as we take part in this nationwide event.

Send a gift of any size by texting "TEAMMATE" to 41444 and follow the prompts. Let's make Giving Tuesday a day to remember.

Thanksgiving Facts (Courtesy of The History Channel)

The American Automobile Association (AAA) estimated that 42.2 million Americans traveled 50 miles or more from home over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend in 2010.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau, Minnesota is the top turkey-producing state in America, with a planned production total of 46.5 million in 2011. Six states—Minnesota, North Carolina, Arkansas, Missouri, Virginia, and Indiana—account for nearly two-thirds of the 248 million turkeys that will be raised in the U.S. this year.

The National Turkey Federation estimated that 46 million turkeys—one fifth of the annual total of 235 million consumed in the United States—were eaten at Thanksgiving. In a survey conducted by the National Turkey Federation, nearly 88 percent of Americans said they eat turkey at Thanksgiving. The average weight of turkeys purchased for Thanksgiving is 15 pounds, which means some 690 million pounds of turkey were consumed in the U.S. during Thanksgiving in 2007.

Cranberry production in the U.S. reached 750 million pounds in 2011. Wisconsin, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Oregon and Washington are the top growing states.

Illinois, California, Pennsylvania and New York are the major pumpkin growing states, together they produced 1.1 billion pounds of pumpkin in 2010. Total U.S. production was over 1.5 billion pounds.

The top sweet potato producing state is North Carolina, which grew 972 million pounds of the popular Thanksgiving side dish in 2010. Other sweet potato powerhouses included California and Mississippi, and the top producing states together generated over 2.4 billion pounds of the tubers.

Three towns in the U.S. take their name from the Thanksgiving bird, including Turkey, Texas (pop. 465); Turkey Creek, Louisiana (pop. 363); and Turkey, North Carolina (pop. 270).
