COLUMN ONE

Can You Dig It?

Baseball and softball will be here before you know it, and there is a lot of work that needs to be done on the fields so that they are ready for opening day. Saturday, February 16 is a holiday weekend and there are no games at Kare Youth League, but that doesn't mean that we won't be busy working on field preparation. If you can help at any of our facilities, please let us know.

Upland – Kyle Corral at kareyouthleague@gmail.com
Covina – Scott Wideman at widemans1@yahoo.com
Irwindale – Greg Bolinger at gregbolinger@yahoo.com

The Kare Youth League Boys Program will be receiving the proceeds from this event. Come celebrate Abraham Lincoln's birthday at Chipotle on February 12.

Facing Realty

From "Uncommon Life" by Tony Dungy

Perceptions don't win ball games. No team can rely on its reputation as "a finesse team" or "a dome team" or "an offensive team." After all, it may not even be accurate – perception is not the same as reality.

I used to talk to my team often about the difference between perception and reality. The public perceives players as different from the ordinary people their families and friends know. But to win and be effective, our players needed to dig beyond perceptions and look at reality – not at their reputations, media personas, or past performances, but who they were on the field. And sometimes that process of uncovering reality could take a little work.

To develop a good game plan in life, we need to know who we really are – not how others perceive us, not the image of who we want to be or who society says we should be, but our true selves. That applies not only to us as individuals but to the "teams" we play on: with families, coworkers, church members, neighbors, and other groups we're involved in. We need to know our strengths and weaknesses and how they fit into the big picture.

How can we all do that? We must occasionally stop and take stock of who we are and what our goals are. And we need an objective standard to do that, not just our personal opinions. When we measure ourselves, our thoughts, our actions, and our goals by our own standards, we may end up missing the mark. Our perceptions aren't always accurate. But if we measure these things by God's Word, we are basing our lives on reality, not perceptions. That is the kind of game plan that works.

It's a process, and it isn't always easy. But if we want to "win" – to live effective lives that contribute to society and further God's purposes – we'll take the time to look in the mirror of truth, see who we really are, and base our lives in reality.
