COLUMN ONE

The D3 girls at Kare Park add a little color to the morning flag football game. Can you see the feet behind the sign that will soon come busting through?

Basketball Coming in November

It's never too early to plan ahead for the next season at Kare Youth League. When fall activities conclude basketball will begin in full force. The C Division will be moving practices from Tuesday to Thursday in basketball and the Pac 12 will move their Wednesday practice to Thursday as well.

Any member who knows someone who might be interested in Kare Youth League should let them know that there is no time like the present to sign up for basketball. Get them to secure their seat on the team this October.

Sixteen Year Old Saves The Day: Part One

Lewiston History Mysteries

On Nov. 9, 1847, Charles Ellet, Jr. of Philadelphia was selected to construct the first bridge over the turbulent Lower Niagara River to connect the U.S. and Canada. It would be built at the narrowest point, where today's Whirlpool Rapids Bridge is located. Ellet would build a suspension bridge, beginning with stretching a line or cable across the water. However, since a boat couldn't navigate the swift rapids, how would he get the line across?

At first, the idea of shooting off fireworks with an attached rope seemed like a good idea, but it was decided it wouldn't work. Then, a local ironworker suggested offering a cash prize of $10 to the first boy who could fly his kite over the river to connect the Canadian and U.S. sides. The idea set off a stampede of young men who took up the challenge.

Dozens headed up to the top of the Canadian gorge wall to try their luck. One was a 16 year old boy named Homan Walsh. Homan was born in Ireland and was 8 years old when his family moved to Niagara Falls, NY, in 1840. He was one excited kid when he first heard of the kite flying contest and he began immediately to build himself a six-sided kite he called "Union." The kite was known as a "barn-door" kite and it was covered in muslin or calico to withstand strong winds and dampness. In January 1848, the contest began. Carrying his new kite and "balls of twine," he took a ferry ride from the base of the falls to the Canadian side. (All the kites would be flown from the Canadian side to take advantage of the prevailing winds from the west.) It was in the dead of winter and very cold, but Homan hiked 2 miles along the top of the gorge wall to the site of the planned bridge. Along with other contestants, Homan flew his kite all day and into the night. But the winds died down and the kite plummeted into the rocks and ice below, breaking the string.
