Can We Get Some Snow for Christmas?

It's not just Hallmark actresses that want it to snow for Christmas. No, everyone likes a little snow to help make the season bright. Saturday, December 14th Kare Youth League will be hosting its annual "Breakfast with Santa" event with this year's theme "Snowy Christmas". The extravaganza in Arcadia will run between 8:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. (food service ends at 10:45 a.m.) and be fun for the whole family. For $8.00 you receive a full pancake breakfast, game tickets to use in Santa Land, a photo op with Santa himself (bring your own camera), and a jolly good time. Proceeds will go toward something great for the Kare Youth League program. In the past, profits have gone to scoreboards in Upland and Irwindale, as well as lighting in Covina.

Why Did the Pilgrims Come to the New World? (Part 3)

*From the website "Stuff From Room 311"

On March 16, Samoset and another Native American entered the Plymouth settlement and said, in English, "Welcome, Englishmen." The Pilgrims were amazed. Samoset explained that he had learned their language from English fishermen who had fished there in the winter. The two peoples exchanged greetings and ideas. They parted as friends.

A few days later, Samoset returned with Squanto, another Native American leader. The Pilgrims welcomed him, too. Soon, Massasoit, the leader of the large tribe the Wampanoag, visited Plymouth. The two peoples signed a peace treaty that would last 50 years.

The Native Americans had taught the Pilgrims how to plant wheat, barley, Indian corn, and peas. Soon, the settlement was growing lots of food. Later that year, in the fall, the Pilgrims celebrated the harvest. They invited their Native American friends to join them. This has become known as the first Thanksgiving.

The Plymouth colony thrived. More people were born, and more people arrived from Europe. Soon, other colonies sprang up. It wouldn't be long before English colonies filled the entire Eastern coast of North America. The Pilgrims, in seeking freedom from religious punishment and economic hardship, had found in the New World new friends and a new way of life.
